“The Chronicles of Titirangi, Mt Wellington and Kelston Schools for the Deaf 1942-2010” is a 536 page book that includes 79 pages of colour photographs of the rich history of the three schools. Most of the content comes from school hostel daily diaries, school logs, yearbooks and photos from the timeline. The book is now ready for printing.

In order to help us estimate the number of copies we need to print, we would appreciate it if you could forward us your pre-order.

The cost per book is $65.00 (including GST) You can email, fax or post us your pre-order now. We will issue you with an invoice once the books arrive from the printer.

Our aim is to have these books ready for distribution early in the new year.

“The Chronicles of Titirangi, Mt Wellington and Kelston Schools for the Deaf 1942 – 2010” has been a story over 68 years in the making. From the Second World War to the present day the Deaf community have had a strong connection to education and to the place where that education was taking place.

Staff and students, past and present, can now enjoy reading this book that celebrates the history of their school. Future students will be able to look back on what it was like when other people attended the schools.
